

Piotr Sierant

Junior React Developer

My interest in programming started very early - still in a technical college. During the classes, we created simple programs in C ++ and websites. I got deeper into programming in 2021, writing Python programs. However, it didn't take me long to embark on a journey deepening my knowledge of web applications. I am familiar with the most modern tools and news from the world of the front-end. In programming, I like continuous development and work on interesting projects. I want to develop in React technology and expand my stack with TypeScript. Further development is also provided by the next part of the CodersLab course. For the last few months I have been creating applications based on JavaScript (React).

Hobby

From an early age I have been involved in sports, already in the second elementary grade my parents took me to football training at a local club where I systematically attended classes and league matches. A bit later, it was time for the gym and muay thai. Due to my travels abroad, my sports passions have gone aside and they have been replaced by personal development. I spend most of my free time learning programming and I am also tutoring English. I like traveling in the form of weekend getaways, city sightseeing or hiking in the mountains.
